As we embark on Eden’s Year of the Bible we give ourselves permission to struggle with the Scriptures. This is especially important to say as we delve into the Old Testament. The text of the First Covenant comprises approximately 70% of our Bibles but can feel the least “user friendly.” In the course of sermons you will hear Pastor Derek and I note verses and passages and ideas that we find beautiful or surprising or troubling. Our hopes are that in the course of our reading and sharing we can all feel safe to say what makes us feel joyous or hopeful or puzzled or sickened. In any thorough and honest reading of the Bible, we will experience all those things.

What encourages us is that the Bible itself is a book of honest struggle.

No matter what life holds, no matter what theologies life obliterates through realities and complexities, the Bible is a witness that Israel must deal with God. For Israel the LORD is the One with whom we have to do and she gives herself no other option. The Grand Story of the Scriptures never considers that Israel has the choice of atheism.

So because atheism is no option for Israel, she learns to include the negative in her theology. Israel learns to praise and to whine, to rejoice and to rage, to affirm and to question. Faith comes to include these polar opposites, and the irresolvable tension that their combination entails become like two magnets whose energy fields push against each other. Walter Brueggemann, in his Theology of the Old Testament, said that the First Covenant Scriptures include Israel’s testimony and counter-testimony, that is, both dominant voices of “acceptable” faith and minority voices which challenge what is acceptable.

Because atheism is no option for Israel, dire circumstances induce Israel to expand her theology to include God as an enemy (Lamentations) or rapist (Jeremiah 20:7-12) or abusive husband (Isaiah 54:4-10), or a sentry who has dozed off (Psalm 44:23-26), or a deity who is aloof and indecipherable (Ecclesiastes), or unjust (Job), etc.

Exile is a major event which bequeathed to Israel one helix of its self-concept, namely, “the church tragic,” interwoven with “the church triumphant.” Babylon’s invasion and defeat of Judah led to deportation, displacement, the loss of land, Temple, functioning priesthood, worship, the collapse of infrastructure and community, that is, the obliteration of all patterns that make meaning in life. So much of the Scripture is written in reflection upon this event.

The Old Testament is a sometimes unsettling, but often refreshing book of honesty.

As we cast off from the dock in our Year of the Bible, we can affirm Israel’s journey in its totality—testimony and counter-testimony—not just the rosy side but the full story. The Symphony of Scripture has room for the dirge as well as the love song. And we give ourselves permission to struggle honestly with the text that affirms struggle.

The Pine Village Garage Sale will be Sep 26-27, 2014

Over the years Pine Village has come up with many creative ways to raise money for various projects on campus. The next event will be a garage sale on September 26 and 27 in the Krehbiel Apartment garages. Donations will be accepted again this year. We encourage you to begin cleaning out your store rooms and garages of those items you no longer use and donate them to this benefit Garage Sale. The only items that will not be accepted are adult clothes.

Other events scheduled for the near future include a Walk-A-Thon on September 25, and the Benefit Day Dinner and Auction on October 23.

All proceeds from these events will go toward the remodeling of the extremely outdated bathing rooms in The Neighborhoods. As we approach closer to the date more information will be available, but if you have any questions in the meantime, please contact Pine Village at 620.345.2901.
